What do little Oni girls dream of?
Everyone knows the phrase "This is the first time I've eaten something like this!" but have you ever really meant it?
Did you know that in some places in other countries.. they drink tomato juice with pepper? (Surprisingly it's quite good you could get addicted to it) The tomatos sourness and the peppers zeal match each other rather well..
You might not be able to imagine it but in any case, this sort of thing can happen with peoples important encounters as well
If you approach the encounter with an attitude of care and consideration you'll be treated kindly in return (probably)
That's why communication with foreign cultures is so important
